Artist's Bio

Cathy Gibbons grew up in Virginia and Southern California, where she had a love of drawing portraits of her family members at a very young age. Mostly self-taught, Cathy has also studied with many nationally known artists throughout the years. As capturing the likeness of her subject is important, Cathy is inspired by the spirit and inherent beauty that emanate from every person and animal, and this is conveyed in her paintings. Cathy has won numerous awards for her paintings in various juried art shows in Arizona and California. She resides in Encino, California, and currently exhibits her work in galleries and art shows in Southern California. Cathy also enjoys teaching art to children and adults.
